Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Amendment A, filed Nov 7, 2002 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1-4, 6-9
Claims ~~1-9~~ and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Anderson et al. (US 5,859,497).

Regarding claims 1 and 18-20, Anderson discloses (fig 6) a flat panel display with a faceplate and backplate to form a vacuum tight cell, an image production unit (206) provided within the cell, a plurality of spacers (fig 5) mounted within the cell such that the spacers are placed at a non-display area and extend substantially across the cell (column 6, lines 47-51), the spacers held between the faceplate and the backplate, a pair of alignment members connected to the spacers such that the spacers and alignment members form a spacer body, with a plurality of exhaust grooves (fig 9).

Regarding claim 2, Anderson discloses each alignment member is connected to one-sided end portions of the spacers.

Regarding claim 3, Anderson discloses a longitudinal axis of each spacer is positioned substantially parallel to a side of the cell.

Regarding claim 4, Anderson discloses (fig 19) a pair of subsidiary alignment members to form a substantially rectangular frame.

Art Unit: 2879

Regarding claim 6, Anderson discloses the exhaust grooves are positioned along a length of the spacer while being spaced apart from each other by a predetermined distance.

Regarding claim 7, Anderson discloses each spacer is provided with a plurality of image distortion prevention grooves.

Regarding claim 8, Anderson discloses the image distortion prevention grooves are positioned along a length of the spacer while being spaced apart from each other by a predetermined distance.

Regarding claim 9, Anderson discloses the image distortion prevention grooves and exhaust grooves are positioned adjacent the backplate and faceplate and are symmetrical.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 10-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anderson et al. in view of Jaskie et al. (US 5,731,660).

Anderson discloses all of the above claim limitations but fails to clearly point out the alignment member having a plurality of grooves.

Jaskie discloses (fig 3) the alignment members having a plurality of grooves in order to provide a continuous fluid phase throughout all the separate compartments.

Art Unit: 2879

Hence it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the flat panel of Anderson with the alignment members having a plurality of grooves in order to provide a continuous fluid phase throughout all the separate compartments, as taught by Jaskie.

Claims 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anderson et al. in view of Alwan (US 5,888,112).

Anderson discloses all of the above claim limitations but fails to clearly point out an insulating layer with a plurality of holes, a plurality of emitters, and a plurality of gate electrodes.

Alwan discloses (fig 1) an insulating layer with a plurality of holes, a plurality of emitters, and a plurality of gate electrodes in order to form a display image.

Hence it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the flat panel of Anderson with the insulating layer with a plurality of holes, a plurality of emitters, and a plurality of gate electrodes in order to form a display image, as taught by Alwan.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed Nov 7, 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues Anderson fails to teach the spacer extends substantially across the cell. Examiner points out (column 6, lines 47-51) the spacers are placed on surface 204 in the regions between the pixels which includes a substantial length of the cell.

Applicant argues Anderson fails to teach the spacers and alignment members form a spacer body. Examiner points out (fig 5) the spacers and alignment members form a spacer body.

Applicant argues Anderson fails to teach the spacers including a plurality of exhaust grooves. Examiner points out (fig 9) the spacer includes a plurality of exhaust grooves comprising lowered areas in the spacer.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
